MONEY - "BRADSTREET'S" REPORTS BUSINESS

The Wall Street markets were stronger and more active yesterday at the short session of the Stoc Exchange, owing to the covering by bears, who ar fearful of an early announcement from Washingto ernment bonds. The bank statement had little erment bonds. The bank statement had attle effect, because with the enormous increase shows in holdings of legal money and in the surplus re-serve there was an actual decrease in loans. The only declines in the stock market among the more important stocks were in Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the Chicago and Northwestern. The losses were only triffing, and the reports of larg decreases in earnings of the Northwestern, on which the bears have recently been making sales, are said by some friends of the company to be untrue. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy rose to 75% and fell off to 74% 74%, when it was reported from Boston that the next dividend on 5,000 shares of the stock had been sold for 1 per cent. As the regular rate is 14 per cent, this transaction was regarded as part of the bear tactics to depress the price of stock. The dividend was sold by Fisher Howe, and was purchased by Charles Head & Co., Rollins Morse and Lee, Higginson & Co.

The banks reported an increase in cash of $11,-134,300, and a gain in deposits of $9,389,100. The loans were reduced $622,200, but the surplus reserve was raised $8,787,025, and now stands at $32,583,675, against $15,610,550 at the corresponding date of 1893, and $24,-576,625 in 1892. The banks hold in legal money $24.-505,025 in 1892. The banks hold in legal money $224,562,100, against $131,328,000 in 1893, and $146,174,100 in 1892. The deposits aggrerate $22,913,700, against $162,870,200 in 1893, and $188,392,300 in 1892. The loans emount to $118,183,100, compared with $439,875,100 in 1893, and $445,830,200 in 1892.
The banking and Wall Street community is waitthe with interest for formal and walling with interest for favorable Washington news this week. The agitation of the Bland proposition to issue $55,000,000 silver certificates based on the sliver builden "seignforage" has produced a decidedly unfavorable impression upon financial men-and except for the common belief that the House of Representatives will not be rash enough to pass the measure the effect might be more serious too close to the gold-exporting point to warrant such a trifling with the National credit as this form of inflation would involve. The foreign exchange market closed stronger yesterday and there is no confidence in its course this week, unless there should be a repudiation by the Administration of the pernicious financial schemes set on foot by the silver and flat money element of the Democratic party in Congress. The ease with which the Gov-ernment could float a temporary loan is indicated by the following letter sent by the New-York Life Insurance Company to Secretary Carlisle:

Insurance Company to Secretary Carlisle:

New-York, January 13, 1894.

Hon. John G. Carlisle, Secretary of the Treasury.

Washington, D. C.

This company hereby tenders its subscription at par for $5,000,000 new 2 per cent loan, if same is to be issued within next sixty days. Will deposit not less than $1,000,000 per week, beginning next week, in United States Treasury on certificate of deposit, in United States Treasury on certificate of deposit, exchangeable for bonds when same are ready.

NEW-YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Edward N. Gibbs, Treasurer.

The additional significance to the foregoing letter.

The additional significance to the foregoing letter The additional significance to the foregoing letter lies in the fact that it indicates how readily the Secretary of the Treasury could obtain immediate money relief from large institutions and capitalists, pending the actual engraving of new bonds, if he is able to obtain authority from Congress to make is able to obtain authority from Congress to make a 3 per cent loan. The example of the New-York Life Insurance Company would be followed, it is believed, on a generous scale by monetary institutions.

The review notes that the volume of business in from and steel at Pittsburg within a week is larger than in any week in December; liberal exports of leather have been made from Boston; more demand is reported from the South; spring trade is opening well at Kansas City and improvement is tele-graphed from San Francisco. Bank clearances are above the billion dollar mark for the third time since early in the recent panic, the total being $1.06.06 or 1.5 per cent more than in the previous week, although still 26 per cent less than in the same week last year.

PROMINENT BUSINESS MEN PRESENT-ENCOUR AGING VIEWS REGARDING THE SITUATION

SAID TO HAVE BEEN EXPRESSED. There was considerable gossip in Wall Street yes terday concerning a dinner given by J. Edward Sim-mons, president of the Fourth National Bank, at his home last Friday evening. Eleven men sat down with the host, and they were men of prominence and wealth in many different departments of business. The party included F. F. Thompson, of the First National Bank; James Stillman, president of the National City Bank, M. C. D. Borden, of the big Fall River manufactory; John Sloane of W. & J. Sloane; Austin Corbin, Thomas Denny, the banker; John Claffin, of the H. B. Claffin Com the banker; John Clailin, of the H. B. Clailin Company; A. Foster Higgins, president of the American Lloyds; Charles S. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce; H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil growing Company, and Recorder Smyth.

The affair is said to have been purely social in nature, but with the relaxation that comes with the coffee and cigars there is said to have been a pretty free interchange of views on the financial situation. None of the men at the dinner would discuss the matter, but it is understood that there was a preponderance of hopeful views. The general sentiment was that business was as bad as it well recould be, and that any change must be for the better. Even the Wilson Tariff bill was discussed with some resignation on the ground that it was the worst that could be done in the way of tariff legislation, and that future amendments to the bill must be in the way of improvement. The financial men are said to have regarded the biggest defaults in the railway line as having been accomplished, and there was a strong belief that an issue of Government bonds would soon be forced by circumstances, and would thereby relieve the situation of the incluse of the National Treasury's deportable condition. The cheerful views understood to be taken by so significant a gathering of eminent subsiness men were of decided encouragement to those persons who learned of the character of the informal talk. pany; A. The spread of measles in the city continued last week, and there were twenty-nine deaths from the disease. Dr. Doty, of the Bureau of Contactous Diseases, said yesterday that the fault lay with the narents of children in the tenement-houses. The narents seidom think it is necessary to have the children attended by a physician on account of measles, and many cases of the disease therefore go unreported. Some parents also deliberately expose their children to measles. The mortality from the disease is comparatively light. A record of contactous diseases in the city during two weeks is appended:

THAT WAS THE REASON WHY THE CAR STOPPED SUDDENLY AND WHY THERE WAS ANOTHER EXASPERATING DELAY ON THE BROADWAY CABLE ROAD.

dents and more kinds of accidents than people thought it was possible for a cable to inflict on a suffering community. There was an accident of a new variety yesterday, and althouch nobody was hurt by it, there was the usual exasperating delay in travel in Broadway.

Car No. 57 of the Broadway line, going north, got to Houston-st, about 19 a. m., and in front of the power-house at that poin! Patrick Finliass, the gripman, let go of the cable and let the car run by its own momentum for a distance of forty feet between the points. Then he turned the wheel of the grip to take up the cable north of the power-house. There was a grinding sound, and the car stopped so suddenly that the passengers took alarm and got out in a hurry. The cable continued to run, but the car could not be moved, and it was discovered that the jaws of the krip had spread and had been caught fast in the slot.

The next car going up the road was No. 145. It was stopped in time to prevent a collision. Inwas stopped in time to prevent a collision, inwas stopped a failure, and the passengers left No. 145 in disgust. A SENSATION IN CHINATOWN. YET LEE, WHO WOOED AND WON A WHITE GIRL FROM HOBOKEN, IS SEEKING NOW

FOR A DIVORCE.

Chinatown is all agog over the announcement that one of its citizens has begun proceedings for a divorce. What lends particular significance to this divorce suit is the fact that the Chinaman involved es from one of the most exclusive sets in Mottst. In fact, he belongs to the upper ten of the Mongolian 40. Anybody could tell this if he once Mongolian 40. Anybody could tell this it he onesaw him in the Bowery on a Sur. My aftermoon, just after Sunday-school. He has an unmistakable waddle of pedigree in his walk, and his best Sunday-school silk trousers and blouse create a breeze and the two were properly wedded and lived at No. 22 Mott-st.

The laddes of the Chinese colony didn't like at all this "foreign invasion," as they called it. They said a lot of spiteful things about Yet Lee's young bride, paying particular attention to her feet, which, they declared, were monstrously large, compared with their own compressed extremities. Yet Lee was unmindful of all this. He knew he had a good thing, and he proposed to hold on to it.

All went smoothly with Lee (although somewhat roughly with his wife) until October 1, 1822, when his wife left him and went to work for another Chinaman, Chu Foon, in Oakland-ave., Hoboken, in April, 1823, she gave birth to a child, of whom, she says, Yet Lee is the father. She also declares that her relations with Chu Foon were perfectly proper, she doing the laundry work about the place while Chu Foon smoked and took it easy. Chu Foon says the same.

Yet Lee, however, has found out that so long as the young woman is his legal wife he is liable for her expenses. Chu Foon found this out before Yet Lee did, and ordered a lot of things in Mrs. Lee's name, and had the bills sent to Yet Lee. Yet Lee straightway got out a meat cleaver and went in search of Chu Foon, but the latter, like the willy Celestial he was, had changed his address and forgot to notify his friends of it.

Thwarted in his purpose of summary vengeance Yet Lee sought legal advice, and immediately began a suit for divorce. Yet Lee is still looking for the man who stole his wife and had the supreme impudence to send him her bills.
